Zuzu

I'm so glad I found you,
I was sad and you were too.
Now, when I 'm down, you pick me up
And you always have since you were a pup.

Zuzu, what would I do?
I'd be so lonely if it weren't for you.
You always have something nice to say,
And you approve of me all day.

I was depressed...
Sitting on my back porch, privately and secretly savoring my favorite
Ice cream flavor,
That is, cool-mint-chocolate-chip, slowly melting down
The sides of sweet, crunchy, old-fashioned, brown...
That is, basically, a sugar cone;
Thinking about how old, and lonely and fat I had grown.
Then I heard a cry far away and sadder than my own.
And I found you, a four- pound, flea-ridden, scared, mostly white girl,
Desperately needing me to bring her home.

chorus

I remember when you were one month old and, as usual,
I put your food on the floor.
You stopped and lovingly and tenderly you looked at me, you kissed my hand,
You turned around and ate some more.
I wondered at the fact you took the time to thank me then and there.
That's when it occurred to me
That you were there for me,
And that, without a doubt, you truly care.
